

BRAC: MAJOR ARMY ACTIONS TO SUPPORT THE CIVILIAN WORKFORCE

The Army values the skills and contributions of its Civilian workforce. The BRAC 2005 moves offer Army Civilians significant opportunities for personal growth and the ability to shape and enhance their careers.

Army employees who are relocated as a result of BRAC will be authorized applicable Permanent Change of Station benefits, including:

- Travel and transportation expenses
- Real estate expense reimbursement
- The Defense National Relocation Program
- Homeowner's Assistance Program (when eligible)

Army employees who decline to relocate or who may separate as a result of a relocation or an installation's closure will be offered enrollment in:

- The Department of Defense Priority Placement Program
- Inter-agency Career Transition Program
- The Department of Defense Job Exchange
- Civilian Personnel BRAC outplacement services

Army Commands may also offer:

- Voluntary Early Retirement Program
- Voluntary Separation Incentive Pay

During sweeping initiatives such as BRAC, knowledge is essential to understanding the changes taking place and enabling smart choices for your organization, your community and yourself.

GET ENGAGED LEARN MORE ABOUT BRAC

The Department of Defense and the Army are committed to providing comprehensive information about BRAC and offer the following resources:

Department of Defense BRAC
www.dod.mil/brac

Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Installations & Environment
www.asaie.army.mil

Army BRAC
www.hqda.army.mil/acsim/brac/braco.htm

Army Civilian Personnel On-line (CPOL)
<http://cpol.army.mil/general/brac/>

Homeowner's Assistance Program
<http://hap.usace.army.mil>

Defense National Relocation Program
<http://www.nab.usace.army.mil/dnrp>

Fort Belvoir, VA

Army Base Realignment and Closure 2005:

On Time, On Target to Support The Transformation
and Recapitalization
Of America's Army

ARMY BRAC 2005: AN OVERVIEW

The Army BRAC program is making history by supporting the Army's largest organizational transformation since World War II.

BRAC is positioning Army assets to better support Soldiers, Army Families and Army Civilians.

BRAC provides opportunities for:

- Training, deploying and sustaining the Army as a premier fighting force
- Facilitating Army transformation, joint operations and joint business functions with other military services
- Significantly reducing the cost of enterprise installation ownership
- Partnering with local communities, making them better places to live
- Providing personnel growth and ability to enhance and shape careers
- Rebalancing the Army by 2011 to meet strategic Army goals

BRAC 2005 is fully funded.

The Army remains committed to meeting the BRAC 2005 law requirements and is on track to do so.

112 of the 182 BRAC 2005 Commission Recommendations Impact the Army

12 Major Closures

5 HC Installations
3 Chemical Depots
4 Ammunition Plants

1 Minor Closure

Charles E. Kelly Support Center

211 Guard Closures
176 Reserve Closures

125 New Armed Forces
Reserve Centers (AFRCs)

6 Major Realignments

5 Schools

4 Brigade Combat Teams

50 Active Installations impacted

3 Reserve Garrisons Impacted

8 Leased Facilities impacted

IMPORTANCE FOR THE ARMY

- Increase of approximately 19,000 military, civilian and contract employees
- Assignment of 8,500 new employees to the National Geo-Spatial Intelligence Agency (NGA), on the Engineering Proving Ground
- Relocation of 6,400 employees assigned to the Washington Headquarters Service (WHS) and Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) leases to the Mark Center
- Relocation of 4,100 Missile Defense Agency (MDA), Army, and Hospital personnel from Army leases in the National Capital Region to Fort Belvoir

Positions Moving from Fort Belvoir: 1,173

Positions Moving to Fort Belvoir: 14,467

Total Military Construction: $4 billion

Movements from Fort Belvoir:

Conventional Armament Research to
Aberdeen Proving Ground, MDSep 2011

Army Material Command (AMC),
US Army Security Assistance Command
(USASAC) to Redstone Arsenal, ALSep 2011

Prime Power School Training to
Fort Leonard Wood, MOSep 2011

Research and Development Activities to
Aberdeen Proving Ground, MDSep 2011

Criminal Investigation Command to
Quantico, VASep 2011

Major Movements to Fort Belvoir:

Depot Level Reparables from Defense
Logistics Agency, VASep 2011

DoD, Defense Agency, and Field Activity
NCR Leases from VASep 2011

Program Executive Office for Enterprise
Information Systems from
Fort Monmouth, NJSep 2011

MDA from Washington, DCSep 2011

NGA from Bethesda, MDSep 2011

Walter Reed National Naval Medical Center (WRNMMC) Non-Tertiary Patient
Care from Walter Reed, Army Medical Center, Washington, DCSep 2011

